Reading and English Flowchart

Reading and English courses fall into three categories:
continuing education, developmental, and college-level.

Note: Courses with arrows must be taken in the order shown.
Based on placement test scores, students may not need to take all courses as listed. Developmental reading courses should be taken first.

Continuing Education Courses provide an introductory view of course material. These courses do not count towards a student’s degree.

Developmental Courses prepare students for college-level coursework. These courses do not count towards a degree.

College-Level Courses provide students with new material and credit towards a degree/transfer.

* Placement at READ 095 required
† Placement at READ 120 required

Note: Starting fall 2014, the College will transition to new course names and numbers. New course numbers listed in bold. Previous course numbers are listed in (parenthesis).

This chart is for informational purposes only. Consult with a counselor or the Reading and/or English Departments for interpretation.